

MATTHEW CLARK

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT
PRIME REALTY

Matthew Clark is the power behind the sales engine for Jacksonville-based Prime Realty. He specializes in third-party leasing and marketing for office, retail and urban mixed-use developments, site selection for regional and national tenants pursuing the Florida and Georgia markets, and commercial investment sales within those markets.

Matthew joined the Prime Realty team in 2010 and serves as Senior Vice President. During that time, he has overseen combined sales and leasing transactions of more than $100 million over an aggregate 1.5 million square feet.

His office portfolio, currently encompassing some 330,000 square feet, focuses on urban-infill opportunities. He works with landlords to reposition and rebrand office assets for growth in occupancy rates and market value. He also works with tenants spanning multiple industries and helps them negotiate leases and prepare for acquisitions.

In retail settings, Matthew and his team have been instrumental in repositioning markets to garner higher rental rates. In Jacksonville's Five Points submarket, his work with new local and regional tenants realized a 167 percent rent increase over a five-year period. He also assists in site selection on behalf of a diverse portfolio of regional- and national-name tenants.

Before joining the Prime Realty team, Matthew served as Program Manager at Ponte Vedra Beach-based MarketingExperiments, the first internet-based marketing research lab. There, he and his team optimized marketing and sales processes on behalf of companies such as Royal Bank of Canada, Reuters, the New York Times and Schlumberger.
